

Identifying project risks

The following is a simple flow chart that could be used on a monthly basis on a long project, to identify and help meet any risks to the effective delivery of a project. In projects involving multiple work packages delivered by different teams, they might each go through this procedure. Alternatively, an evaluator working on a 'live' project might use this to report on ongoing progress.

